Nodirbek Abdulakhadov

.NET | Software Engineer @ Telecom Soft
Tashkent, Uzbekistan

Summary

Software Engineer focused on building fast, clean, and maintainable backend systems. I care about structure, clarity, and performance — not trends or buzzwords.

My work is driven by logic, not guesswork. I value simplicity over overengineering, and reliability over temporary hacks. Whether it's designing APIs, optimizing data flows, or refining architecture, I aim for solutions that make sense and stay solid under pressure.

Always open to working with people who prefer sharp code and clear thinking.

I'm currently open to new job opportunities where I can contribute as a dedicated .NET developer and continue growing in a collaborative, high-impact environment.
